Victory Brings Togetherness

The fighting Presidents rebounded from a 2-6-1 season last year to post a 8-2-1 Southeastern District Championship marking. The presidents opened their season with a 20-0 win over defending district champs Western Branch. As the season rolled on, one by one the prexies defeated their opponents. Churchland stunned the presidents by defeating them 14-7. It was Wilson's only loss of the season, having tied Great Bridge for the Southeastern District Crown 8-8. With a victory over defending State Champion Hampton, the Presidents advanced to play Eastern Regional Champion First Colonial, but lost 18-12 in the last twenty-eight seconds. Wilson's Cinderella season ended abruptly as it had began. Outstanding players were Curtis Franklin, Kenny Rodgers, Carlton Nelson, Jerome Heath, Glen Pizzanello, Tony Burgess, Danny Burgess, and Bert Thomas

J.V. Ends Winning Season

Opposing quarterback being tackled by J.V. players during a game.

The Vice-Presidents once again proved to be impressive. Compiling a season record of 4-2-1, they showed a great deal of promise for the future varsity teams.

The Baby Prexies were lead by several outstanding players. Some of these were Jerome Giddens and Bruce Joyner who lead an impressive defense. Janis Plummer, Jerome Grimes and Curtis Oliver lead the offensive line. Richard Beamon and Andre Cole played a decisive part in the winning effort at their backfield positions. Steve Booker, a defensive standout also played quarterback where he did a remarkable job.

Making an important downfield tackle are Anthony Hampton and Richard Beamon.

The Varsity Cheerleaders of 1978-79 worked hard all summer long preparing for what were to be fantastic football and basketball seasons. The cheerleaders, under the supervision of Mrs. Debbie Faulky, got their first taste of a pep rally during orientation. Endless hours of making signs and tags, and practicing cheers were spent after school by these twelve girls

The cheerleaders, under their captain June Sherrod, spent just about every Saturday during the summer at some gas station sponsering a car wash. As a result, enough money was raised to buy new uniforms. They also sold jewelery, homecoming flowers, and Wilson pins to help raise money for jackets

J.V. Pep Squad

The Junior Varsity Cheerleading Squad may have been small in number with only seven girls for the 1978-79 school year, but what they lack in size they made up for in spirit and volume. In addition to cheering at the Junior Varsity football games each Thursday afternoon, the girls sold programs at all home varsity football games and cheered at pep rallies during the season. Their fall fund-raising project—pom-pom sales—helped everyone at Wilson display their colors proudly, and the J.V. Cheerleaders also showed their school spirit by decorating a truck which participated in the Homecoming motorcade to Lawrence Stadium.

Winter activities included cheering for J.V. basketball games and wrestling matches.

Cross Country Adds Girls

There were two cross country teams this year, varsity and girls' teams. The captains of the teams were Percy Martin and Kim Boone.

The team improved a great deal over the season. Being a young team of two juniors and eight underclassmen, most of the members had never run cross country before. With time and experience the coach looks for great things out of this team in the future. Varsity letters were earned by Percy Martin, Darnell Gause, Larry Harrison, Jack Lee, Jeff Manchur, Kim Boone, and Becky Greiner.

Season ends with Kim Boone and Paul Weatherbee is happy winner.

Coach Armstrong shows Percy Martin today's schedule.

The Presidents Take The District

This year's team won the Southeastern district championship by defeating Cradock in a play off game. The team lost in the semifinals of the district tournament to Deep Creek by one point.

The first game of the Regionals saw Wilson lead highly favored Booker T. Washington the entire game only to lose by one point on a shot at the buzzer.

Outstanding senior members of this year's squad were Julius Gilchrist, Curtis Franklin, Carlton Nelson. Also instrumental in winning the championship were Danyell Kelly, Glen Perry, Ron Ellis, and Terry O'Neal. Adding depth were Alfred Dixon, and Andre Wallace.

J.V. Tournament Champs

Wilson's J.V. Basketball team had a very successful campaign this season. Losing only one game, the Jayvees compiled a 12-1 regular season record. The lone defeat came at the hands of the Indian River Braves. The defeat was re-ven-ge-d in the championship game, making the victory twice as sweet.

James Branch lead the team in the scoring and re-bounding, while Terry Cross, Kelvin Jordan and Milton Barham also played major roles.

Girls' Team Has Rewarding Year

The 1978-79 girls basketball season was a rewarding one for both the coaches and the players with four girls making the all Portsmouth team. Ann Theus leading scorer and rebounder as a freshman made first team all Portsmouth and all tournament team. Kathy Rowley and Pam Stewart both juniors made second team and Julia Howard a sophomore made honorable mention.

The team finished 6th in the district and will have all 12 players returning next year.

Grapplers Show Improvement

The Varsity Wrestling Team lead by Jeremiah Farrow and Otis Baskerville ended their season in seventh place. The highlight of the season came early when the Prexie "Mat Men" placed third in the Portsmouth Christmas Tournament. Each wrestler played an important part in this success. Otis Baskerville was awarded the MVP Trophy at the tournament. Farrow and Baskerville both were champions in their weight classes. District Tournament time brought more success for individual matmen, Otis Baskerville placed 4th at 119, Steve Booker placed 4th at 126, Jeremiah Farrow placed 3rd at 145, and Tim Bonds placed 3rd at 98.

The 1978 Varsity Golf Team compiled a 3-6 record and finished seventh place in the district tournament. The team was lead by sophomore Ricky Fugate in the number one position, followed by senior Timmy Chrisman. Fugate qualified for the Eastern Regional Tournament And just missed qualifying for the State Tournament. Chrisman missed Regionals by only a few strokes, due mainly to the fact that the tournament was played in a constant downpour.

Other members of the team were freshman Leon Bryant, and sophomores Tony Manzione and Harry Marshall. Preston Dezern, Mike Minick, and Steve Hedgepeth saw limited action.

Service With A Smile

The outlook for the 1979 tennis team is one of optimism. With four returning lettermen, Billy Diggs, a sophomore; George Kozak, a senior; Mark Davis and Leslie Marcus, both juniors; the top six positions are nearly filled. The team won its first matches in four years last season, and Coach Roy Reel is expecting improvement over last year. Billy Diggs, a semifinalist in the district tournament last year, is a major contender for the district crown in 1979.

The 1978 edition of Woodrow Wilson's baseball team was one of the most powerful in recent history. The team finished in second place behind Indian River. In compiling a 6-3 conference record, the Presidents outscored the opposition 61-12 over the last four games. This explosive attack produced three .400 hitters. Willie Watson led the squad with .463, Adam Goldblatt .413, And Lemmy Quidgeon .408. Also, Pete Schmidt hit .363 and Duke Rollins batted .300. The leading pitchers were Adam Goldblatt and Glen Pizzanello with three victories each as well as Lemmy Quidgeon with two victories. Adam Goldblatt won the Doug Whitley Memorial Award and was the shortstop on the All-District team. Goldblatt also made the first All-Metro team. Quidgeon was the Golden Glove winner, also making All-District. Willie Watson won the trophy for highest batting average and also made All-District.

Girls Get

The softball team lost several of its '78 starters, but Coach Person was not discouraged. She was looking forward to a winning season for the team. She also felt that all the newcomers showed promise for the coming years. Outstanding players were Carol Parker, Lisa Wright, Kay Johnston, Beth Noll, Gloria Heath, Becky Greiner, and Pam Stewart.

Last year the track team posted a 1-6 record. The team was able to finish 4th in the district meet. The mile relay team, composed of Alonzo Riddick, Kenny Rodgers, Jeff Hendricks and Jerome Heath posted a new school record of 3 20 9 seconds in the Eastern Regional meet. In the 440 yd dash, both Hendricks and Riddick broke the school record, with Hendrick's of 50.1 establishing the new record. Curtis Franklin was chosen as the most valuable player. This year will find all of these men returning along with Ed Mills, Morris Brown, Danyel Kelly, Ben Hill, Percy Martin and Eric Wells.

Homecoming night was exciting and rewarding for the spectators and participants of the festivities. The Fighting Presidents "sunk" the Cradock Admirals with a score of 40-6, continuing the winning streak of the year.

Although this was the first year there were no homecoming floats, it made no difference in the spirit the crowd maintained. Suspense was added to the night with the unknown winners of the homecoming crown and the car that was being raffled to earn money for the athletic program. Both of these questions were answered during halftime. Janice Mason was crowned homecoming queen with attendants Sherri Kurkenhall, Kim Boone, Denise Godfrey, and Pamela Brown.

'Up The Down Staircase'

The fall play, "Up the Down Staircase" was a huge success for the drama department. Directed by Mr. McGlothlin, the play was presented November 17th and 18th in Willet Auditorium. Pam Rhodes, Mark Bailey, and Sherry Forbes had the lead roles in the comedy. Sylvia Barrett, played by Pam Rhodes, was a new teacher facing the problems of an inner-city high school. She was harrassed by her students until she felt that she was at the breaking point. Mr. Barringer, played by Mark Bailey, and Bea Schacter, played by Sherry Forbes, were two strong forces that kept her from changing jobs.

Playing Around

The Wilson players have made much progress this year starting with the children's play production of "The Stolen Prince". Late in November, they successfully performed the popular play, "Up the Down Staircase". Pamela Rhodes had the role of Sylvia Barrett, a teacher trying to cope with the problems of her first year as a high school teacher. The Wilson players had a series of one acts in March, including "On Vengeance Height" which was taken to competition. In June, the Senior class play was also performed by the drama club with the help of other non-member seniors.

Mutiny On The Annual Staff

Made up of nearly all new members, The President staff had a rather difficult year. Returning staff members Lisa Snead, Teresa Lewis, George Kozak and Lynn Rosser had to teach the new staffers just how to put together a yearbook. Such objects as layout sheets and croppers had to be explained. The new members were instructed as to how copy should be properly written and layouts should be made. They were also informed that captions and headlines were to be original and not stolen from other books!

A great deal of hard work went into publishing of The President. The staff often worked after school until three or four o'clock, during assemblies and even straight through the day. Advisor Mrs. Sweet worked as diligently as anyone on the staff; she not only advised, but actively participated in the making of the book.

The 1978-1979 Varsity Cheerleaders

This year the Varsity Cheerleaders, headed by June Sherrod and Sandra Deberry, worked very hard to promote spirit throughout the school during our winning year. They cheered at football games, basketball games, and wrestling matches. Their sponsor was Mrs. Debbie Faulkey, who helped out a great deal. The cheerleaders also worked hard during homecoming preparing for the alumni. They held fund raising events for new uniforms and deserve a lot of credit.

FBLA Strives For Leadership

These hands are efficient in typewriting.

The FBLA, which consists of 46 members and five officers, has had a very successful and rewarding year. Early in the year they sold, which proved to be a lot of hard work, as well as a lot of fun. In October of '78, many members attended the O.D.U. Regional Workshop in order to further their education in business. They have planned to take over thirty members to Regional Competition in March and they hope to prove that Wilson is also number one in business education.

Elevated Minds

Principals With Principles

The principals were the people at Wilson who always seemed to know what was going on; hardly anything escaped them. They could be expected to show up anywhere in the building at any time.

As administrators, they were officially charged with the task of making sure school life ran smoothly. Their jobs ranged from acting as disciplinarians, to attending all school functions, to evaluating teachers. In addition to performing their official duties, they could always be counted on to make a friendly comment or to lend a helping hand to teachers and students alike. These qualities made the principals seem more accessible and gave the school a calm, relaxed atmosphere.

Consultation with teachers is one of Mr. Burton's most important tasks.

At long last, Mr. Burton has a chance to relax over lunch with Mr. Johnson, Mr. Igata, and Mrs. Person.

In a rare private moment, Mr. Burton reflects on the day's activities.

Often called upon, yet seldom thanked were those wonderful ladies who worked diligently to keep our school running smoothly. The services they performed and the tasks they accomplished were things to be marveled at. They seemed to be geniuses at organization and efficiency, able to control any crisis that might have arisen. It was to these trustworthy individuals that we owed much gratitude.

The Literary Center

Librarians Mrs. Dickerson and Mrs. Sledge try to interest Fred Burgess in a book

For the librarians, there was never an idle moment. There were always books to be returned to the shelves and overdue books to be tracked down. They had to maintain order in the library at all times so that students trying to study, do research, or just read could do so with little distraction. In addition they students in locating books and information for school projects as well as for pleasure

Presidential Advisors

Hectic is one word that accurately describes a day in the life of a guidance counselor. Our counselors were always available to answer questions or to help with any personal problems that a student might have had. They were kept busy with student schedules, parent conferences and much more. No matter how work-laden or weary they became, they always maintained cheerful, helpful attitudes.

Expression

Wrapping up this decade has brought us back to an earlier decade—"back to basics." The thrust for more emphasis on basic skills has involved the English classroom as much as, if not more than, any other discipline.

1978 was the year of the statewide minimum competency tests for the class of '81. Sophomores were given the additional graduation requirement of proving that their functional reading skills were sufficient for later life.

The English curriculum is destined to become in the next decade a package that contains all things for all people. It will be a package wrapped in speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills, and presented to the student as language proficiency for today's world.

Wilson Unites Nations

Correct pronunciation is important in Mrs. Williams' class. Below Mrs. Adams helps a student receive the Spanish language.

The main goal of the Foreign Language Department was to ensure that students could effectively communicate in a foreign language. Although vocabulary, grammar, etc. were important, the stress was placed on writing, speaking, and understanding. For this reason, audio-visual aids such as tapes and filmstrips played an important part in the learning process.

Spotlight On Social Studies

During her class on the Social Studies work unit gives Mrs. J. Jones a chance to make her lesson fun.

This year the Social Studies Department offered a variety of courses for students. Those taking World Geography learned how the earth is layed out and how its physical pheatures affect the world's activities. World History gave a broad view of the world's history and cultures, while U.S. History presented an indepth study of our country's history. U.S. History helped students understand how our government, as well as those of other countries, functions. Also offered were Humanities, Black History, and Economics

Welcoming the day with a smile, Miss Texet

Future homemakers need to become proficient at a number of skills-not just cooking and sewing. They need to learn such skills as child care, meal planning, and efficient home and money management. These and more were the topics dealt with in the Home Economics classes. The goal of the Home Ec. Department was to give students a broad view of the skills needed to run a home efficiently

Teachers Create Sum Problems

Mr. Wutzer prepares himself for a productive day

The Math Department has always held standards of excellence for students to strive toward. However, few have actually done this in recent years. There are many times more students taking general math courses than advanced courses such as geometry, trig., and analysis. There were only five students enrolled in trig., and five in analysis. Although fewer took advanced math courses than in the past, the math teachers have refused to relinquish their high standards.

Wilson Aids In Career Preparation

The art teachers Mr. Williams, Mrs. Sweet, and Mr. Hedden show off in the show house.

Working in the bookroom is one of Mr. Clement's responsibilities.

D.E. teachers Miss Simmons and Mrs. McCarty enjoy the prolonged warm weather.

Distributive Education students learned the best way to distribute goods from the producer to the consumer. Those taking were interested in pursuing such careers as merchandising, store operations, and distribution. Students taking Industrial Cooperative Training held jobs in and around the community. This gave them a chance to "try their wings" in the work world.

The aim of Wilson's art program was not to turn each student into an artist overnight, but to make each more aware of art in general. Students on all levels were given a taste of all aspects of the subject. Along with the skills practiced-sketching, weaving, ceramics, etc.-art history and art appreciation were also taught. The teachers' goal was to help each student become more creative, and to give each a little knowledge about art.

The Science Department, under the direction of Mrs. Deloatch, was host to quite a few different courses. All eighth graders took earth science, while freshmen took physical science. Biology, the study of life, was a popular course among sophomores. Also available were chemistry and physics, which mainly college-bound juniors and seniors took. All the science courses were designed to promote understanding of the how's and why's of the world.

Most students, at some time during high school were exposed to a business course. Those offered ranged from general business to typing to steno. Many freshmen took general business, in which they learned basic business skills. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors most often took typing, necessary to anyone who planned to further his education. Those with special interests were able to study accounting, clerk typing, recordkeeping, and business law. Students who planned careers as secretaries took Steno I and Steno II, in which they improved their typing skills and learned shorthand, filing, and more.

Gym and health classes were an integral part of life at Wilson. By actually participating, students learned a lot and had fun at the same time. Gym classes also provided an opportunity for teachers to spot prospective members for the various athletic teams.

In health classes students were taught about the various diseases, their symptoms, and how to treat them. They were also taught how to apply first aid in emergency situations.

The Physical Education department wanted to be sure that all its students left having mastered the basic skills of some different sports. It also wanted to feel certain that they had a general knowledge of health and first aid practices.

Working For Wilson

Mr. Wilson views on top of things.

Band director Mr. Wickerson and orchestra director Mrs. Harding consult on a common problem.

Musically Inclined

Students with musical interests had a variety of courses from which to choose. The beginning levels were open to all students, but auditions were required for the upper levels. The time in music classes was spent mostly on practicing for their public appearances. The band played at football games and at nearly every assembly. The orchestra also gave a number of performances throughout the year. The different choruses, featuring the highly regarded Presidents and First Ladies, often sang at school events.

The sole eighth grade music teacher, Mr. Warren, takes his job seriously. At left, Miss Council concentrates on piece of the P and T's.

"Hard Work" seemed to be the middle name of the Junior Class. Working diligently from the first day of school, the juniors sold various types of lamps and plants and ran a concession stand for the night school. Heading up the money making schemes were the class officers

Freda Freeman, President; Pam Parnell and Kathy Rowley, Vice-Presidents; Phil-ette Jones, Secretary; and Cammy Borjes, Treasurer. Junior Class adviser Wayne Thompson has allowed students to work off class dues by selling projects

Junior activities varied widely this year, however, their participation, enthusiasm, and attendance at athletic events was remarkable. Many participated in their first year of varsity sports such as football, baseball, basketball, and cheerleading. They also supported Wilson's teams by attending the majority of games and cheering the teams to victory

As fewer classes were required this year, Juniors chose to take such electives as industrial arts, business, public speaking, drama, and foreign language. Which made a marked difference in their reactions to school in general

The class of '80' also got involved in training classes such as I.C.T. and D.E. These training classes enabled them attend school half the day and work the rest, this helped prepare them for their futures which lay ahead

The cafeteria staff strove to produce meals that the student body preferred and the state required, but many members of the Junior Class preferred to munch on snacks, eat ice creams, and drink Coolies rather than buy a school lunch. Many students admitted though, that the lunches had improved this year.

Super Juniors

Super Junior Homerton teacher Mrs. Curlee prepares for the retired teachers' luncheon.

Members of Super Junior Homeroom Yvonne Faulks, Sherry Kykenda

The junior class as a whole was responsible for putting on the Junior-Senior Prom. Each member of the class who wanted to go to the prom had either to pay his dues or to work it off through fund-raising projects. Some of these fund-raising projects were selling lamps and selling concessions during nightschool.

The title of Super Junior went to four people: Kathy Rowley, Sandra Whittaker, Denise Joyner, and Tracy Manning. These members of the class raised more money for the prom than any others.

The Super Junior Homeroom was Mrs. Curlee's homeroom 114. Under the direction of Walter Harris, the homeroom president, they earned more money per person than any other homeroom.

The junior class could not have done nearly so well had it not been for junior class sponsor Mr. Thompson or his helpful wife, Mrs. Thompson. Mr. Thompson did everything he could for the class throughout the year. He and Mrs. Thompson both worked tirelessly each Tuesday and Thursday selling concessions.

Juniors were involved in every imaginable school activity. They participated in sports, were members of the different musical groups, and acted in plays. They were active in student government, wrote for the Student and The President, and raised money for group projects. They also began to look seriously toward their futures. They began preparing for college or work, since many had not previously done so. For most, junior year was a year of change-a year of growing and maturing. It was a great year well spent for the majority of the juniors.

The sophomores had their chance to prove themselves worthy of graduation more than two years before their actual commencement. The trial was the minimum competency test that was given for the first time. Although 25% of the class was expected to fail the test, they would have two more chances to pass the test before graduation.

The first day of school at Woodrow Wilson for many members of the class of '83, ranged from terrible and scary to amusing and fun. Although some of the new students were scared, others met the first day as a challenge and a hope for meeting new friends. Many members of the 8th grade class were confused, especially about the fact that they didn't know where any of the classes were. Some will admit though, that the teachers and upperclassmen were very patient and helpful in conducting them to the right rooms.

When asked how they felt about upperclassmen, the class of 83' responded favorably. They feel that all in all, the upperclassmen are ALL RIGHT. Most of the remarks were flattering, but there are always a few who have different thoughts. Some feel that upperclassmen are mean. Others feel they brag too much and even some feel that the upperclassmen get away with everything. Although these students are only in the 8th grade, they realize that they will also be upperclassmen someday and they will want and deserve the same privileges.

Thank God It's Friday

With the coming of their first year in high school, 8th graders found it necessary to study more. As they struggled to live to the end of each and every week, one refrain could always be heard, "Thank God it's Friday."

Many 8th graders feel that choosing the right high school that they will attend, is a very important step in life, and most have made the decision in Wilson's favor. They feel that it would be difficult to start making friends all over again. The 8th grade class, is beginning to get used to the rules, administration, and teachers here at Wilson, they say, they are beginning to feel like a family.

After the varied sports events, many students found it enjoyable to stop at one of Portsmouth's many fast food restaurants. The overall favorite place for the 8th graders to go was McDonalds. Although a few members of the class liked the Pizza Hut, the class of 83 are still loyal to hamburgers, french fries, and soft drinks.

Football is a favorite pastime of the class of 1983. Many enjoy participating in the sport, while others are satisfied in just being spectators. Many 8th graders feel that high school sports are very enjoyable part of high school life and the fact that Wilson had such a successful season made the games seem even better. As one 8th grader stated, "I love high school, it's great."
